

EXPECT DEADLOCK TO WIN FOR BUTLER

His Managers Predict Delegates Will Early See Their Men Cannot Triumph.

EASTERN MAN BEST BET

Gen. Wood Returns From Washington and Passes Day With Callers.

Managers of the campaign of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler for the Republican nomination for President have become so discouraged by the increasing evidence that a deadlock will occur on the early ballots in Chicago that yesterday they predicted that the president of Columbia university would win.

"When delegates from other States have met their obligations to local committees and primary results have been discovered that the candidates of their first choice are impossible of nomination," said Justice Davies, "then we will come to Butler's support to nominate him, perhaps as early as the fourth or fifth ballot."

"This is the belief of the Butler campaign committee and New York leaders, all of whom are in close touch with the situation and are not misled by propaganda put in circulation in behalf of the other candidates."

The Butler spokesmen expressed the idea that the national party leaders would nominate an Eastern man with a Western following and declared that Butler practically stood alone in would have votes in the convention from Rhode Island, Connecticut, Vermont, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Oregon, Texas, Georgia and North Carolina in addition to New York. He does not count on many of these on the first ballot, of course.

"We are expecting to have the entire vote of New York State on the first ballot," said B. H. Snell, chairman of the Executive Committee of the State Committee. "If it seems best that it should be cast for Butler that will be entirely agreeable to me. I believe that the delegates will be willing to lay aside their own personal prejudices in order that New York State may play its important part in the nomination of the next President."

Mr. Snell, who has just been attending a conference of the St. Lawrence County Republicans, said the people in that county would be entirely agreeable to practically any candidate that has been spoken of with the exception of Johnson. "They are absolutely opposed to him," Mr. Snell said.

Mr. Snell also mentioned the Harvard Club from Washington yesterday morning and spent most of the day there. He was uncommunicative as to the identity of his callers, but acknowledged that some of them were national delegates.

FRANCE WOULD RUN ON OWN PLATFORM

Maryland Senator Will Not Campaign, However.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Senator Francis of Maryland, in a formal statement today announced that if the Republican National Convention could find no other candidate to support the principles which he outlined in a recent Senate speech as those for which the Republican party should stand, he would be willing to become the party standard bearer.

In his speech Senator Francis sketched a long programme of domestic and foreign policy. Headquarters for Senator Francis will be opened by friends in New York tomorrow and further announcement of his candidacy will be made at a dinner in New York May 18. Mr. Francis announced that he would not campaign for delegates.

Girl Killed Rescuing Horse.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., May 12.—While endeavoring to rescue a horse which had been attacked in a stall in the barn, Miss Maude J. Padgett, 24, daughter of W. H. Padgett, five miles north of Mount Vernon, was kicked to death by the male.

HOOVER IS AGAINST DOMINATION IDEA

Explains He Wouldn't Invite Deadlock With Congress.

Evidently with the idea of answering his critics, who have been asserting that he had too little experience with our form of government and that, if elected, he would attempt to dominate to the point where he would get into a deadlock with Congress, Herbert Hoover last night issued a statement on "The Relations of the Executive to Congress."

"The former Food Controller declared that one of the first things needed to obtain a better administration of our national affairs was 'closer relationship between Congress and the Executive.' 'This is not a one man Government,' he added; 'it is a Government of the majority.' He concluded:

"In spite of the inevitable disputes and haulings of local politics, the men sent to Washington by each community must be considered as expressing the composite mind of their constituents. These men must consider problems in their bearings on 50 other constituencies, and they must possess themselves of the relations any special act will bear to the whole."

"Therefore, any attempt to conduct national affairs by domination of the Executive to override Congress to subvert the essentials of popular government, in addition it tends to bring our whole legislative system into disrepute, and when all is said and done Congress is the legislative expression of the people."

There is much uncertainty here regarding the Indiana "big four" to be named on the convention floor tomorrow. Considerable of it is due to the determined attitude of admirers of Gen. Wood, who insist on instructions to support him as long as his name remains before the National Convention.

The convention probably will be asked to name Senators New and Watson and Governor Goodrich as delegates at large, with former Senator Beveridge in place of E. M. Wasmuth, State chairman.

Both Senators are opposed to instructions, maintaining that because Gen. Wood did not obtain a majority vote in the primary the delegates at large cannot legally be bound to support him. Mr. Beveridge bears the endorsement of the Wood forces, and they are expected to submit to the convention the names of Mrs. Anne Studebaker Carlisle of South Bend and Col. Hiram L. Beards of Peru as two of the other "big four" members.

The great interest in the convention was shown by the presence of practically all the delegates and a large crowd of visitors, although the real business of the convention is to be transacted tomorrow.

The speakers were Senator James E. Watson, as temporary chairman; Senator Harry S. New, as permanent chairman; Will H. Hays, National Republican Chairman; Gov. James H. Goodrich, Mrs. John Glover South of Frankfort, Ky., chairman of the woman's division of the Republican National Committee; Albert J. Beveridge, Republican nominee for Governor.

Senator Watson said that in regard to the Presidential situation he had no views to conceal from his Republican friends. "There was great applause when he said 'the Republicans at the polls expressed their choice and gave one candidate a plurality. The delegates at large will respect it.' He said he was authorized to speak for others in making this statement.

The applause came because it was understood that Senator Watson was referring to the fact that Major-Gen. Wood got the plurality of votes in the primary election.

Lightening of the burden of federal taxation was a task the Republican party should assume, Senator Watson said, specifying the repeal of the excess profits levy in this connection and declaring for simplification of methods of tax imposition.

"We must either destroy Bolshevism or it will destroy us," he said in setting forth the third point. Extreme radicalism, he asserted, had "stealthily entrenched itself in public places and these enemies of our Government are to-day filling many of the most prominent positions in our Government."

"President Wilson himself is largely responsible for this situation," Mr. Watson commented. "If many of the men that Woodrow Wilson has summoned from private to public life during the last four years had complete charge of this Government they would wreck it, utterly obliterate the Constitution, pull down the pillars of the Government and leave us to the darkness of despair."

Senator New referred to the business and financial affairs of the country and charged that when "President Wilson

OLD GUARD WINS IN INDIANA MEETINGS

Instructing of Delegates Is Voted Down in Majority of Districts.

BIG FOUR ARE UNCERTAIN

New, Watson, Goodrich and Probably Beveridge Will Be Chosen.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 12.—The Old Guard, which is opposed to an Indiana delegation to the Republican National Convention, won a signal victory to-night. At the district meetings only three instructed for Wood, six delegates, and two instructed for Johnson, four delegates. In other districts the question was not raised, and in some resolutions to instruct were voted down.

There is much uncertainty here regarding the Indiana "big four" to be named on the convention floor tomorrow. Considerable of it is due to the determined attitude of admirers of Gen. Wood, who insist on instructions to support him as long as his name remains before the National Convention.

Figures from twenty-two counties showed that the contest for the short term Senatorial seats: Hefflin, 7,958; White, 5,085; O'Neal, 3,205.

The returns represented about half the normal vote in the counties polled. In the absence of official returns no concessions were made by any of the active candidates or their managers.

On the face of returns tabulated by the Montgomery Advertiser to-night Representative Hugh Dent has been defeated for renomination from the Second district by Judge John R. Tyson, former Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court.

Supposed Holdup Is Only a Freak Bet Stunt.

The stunts of three occupants of a limousine automobile that raced through Sixth avenue near Thirty-fourth street, mistaken for a holdup, led early this morning to the arrest of a youth, who said he was William T. Bushey, son of Ira Bushey, shipbuilder, of 163 Eighty-second street, and John Randolph, a broker, of 463 Forty-seventh street, both of Brooklyn. Before the two were captured detectives commandeered a taxicab and pursued them for more than a mile. A dozen shots were fired and one of the bullets grazed young Bushey's neck.

At the West Thirtieth street station Bushey, according to the police, said the excitement was the outcome of a bet. He said he and the third man, who was not arrested, bet Randolph $20 each that Randolph would not ride home on the roof of the car.

The arrests were made at Fourth avenue and Twentieth street after the limousine, with Bushey driving, had been chased from Sixth avenue and Thirty-fourth street. Bushey was charged with disorderly conduct and reckless driving and Randolph with disorderly conduct.

A STRAW HAT shows which way the wind blows. Off, it shows where it is going. On, it shows where it came from. And these distinctions are not more delicate than the hats themselves.

Our aim is to cater to men who want something besides straw in a hat—who do not stop at split straws, for example, but split hairs on the juxtapositional niceties of crown and brim.

Our new selections of straws are ready for inspection, and while we mention Sennits, Balibuntals, and Panamas only as a matter of form, it is also a matter of form that gives them their chief appeal.
